The Accounting concentration is designed for accounting undergraduates in preparation for the Uniform Certified Public Accounting Exam. The concentration courses are an intense immersion in those topics that students are likely to see on the CPA exam. The concentration courses are taught by a combination of online Becker instructors and Spalding University accountancy faculty and are equivalent to 9 credit hours of accounting. Kentucky currently requires candidates for the CPA exam to have 27 hours of accounting coursework and an additional 12 hours in business. In total, the CPA applicant must complete 150 college semester hours to be eligible for the license. A bachelor’s degree in accounting and the MSBC – Accounting Concentration fulfill these requirements.
